ABOUT CONFERENCE

Teachers are the greatest asset of any educational system. They stand at the interface of the transmission of knowledge, skills and values. In the words of Dr. Radhakrishnan, “No nation can rise above the level of its teachers”. Therefore, they are accepted as the backbone of any educational system.

In a transitory phase, youngsters need to discover themselves holistically before stepping into the competitive world. They need to be prepared enough to face challenges in life. An ideal Education system enhances the theoretical & practical grounding through school experiences. Progressive educational thought & experiences emphasize cooperation in real life. In the present Scenario different teachers are teaching in different ways as every teacher is unique in himself/ herself. Most of the teachers, after identifying the topic to be taught, depend on textbooks and reference books and organise their teaching-learning activities without going deep into the pedagogical considerations.

NEP 2020 emphasizes on holistic learning by providing the experiential mode. Are we really using the experiential mode of learning? Are we clear about the concept and the techniques of providing experiential learning? Different teachers and the pedagogues hold different views on these issues. Hence the need of organising this conference.

The present conference aims at exploring the views of experts about the present teaching-learning scenario in Indian schools and what, in their opinion, should be the perspective of providing the strategies of providing school experiences so that holistic learning may take place.

In this regard, GIAST has taken a humble initiative to conduct a conference in order to make Teacher Educators aware of their opinion about the right perspective of providing school experiences, as also the present scenario of teaching-learning processes in schools. Besides, the participants also will be invited to express their views on these issues.

The theme of the conference is - “The Right Perspective of Providing School Experiences and the Present Scenario of Teaching-Learning Processes.” This conference will be organised on 1st October '2021 (Friday) from 10:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m.

OBJECTIVES OF CONFERENCE

“The only source of Knowledge is Experience.”- Albert Einstein

- To find out the present scenario of teaching-learning processes,
- to share the experts' views on the right perspective of providing school experiences,
- to share the participants' views on school - experiences and the way how teachers complete their teaching-learning transactions in schools and
- to reconcile, if necessary, the experts' and the participants' views on the right perspective of school experiences and the present scenario of teaching-learning in schools.
