Q 1 Read paragraph carefully and then answer. Let us see the following example:

Ms. Manpreet is a secondary school teacher. She conducted a unit test of class X in her school. It was a 20 marks objective type test. She collected and assessed all the answer scripts. She compiled the scores and also made some groups like above average, average and below average. She returned the answer scripts with remarks like your performance is average/below average/above average. She also identified some topics where a large number of learners were not responded well or made mistakes. She decided to provide additional activities for those topics in order to facilitate learners. Myself

My name is Anshika. I did my graduation and post-graduation in English literature. I was born and raised in Delhi. I have not travelled many places but it is in my dream list. Other than travelling, I like to read books. I believe knowledge always opens the door which are otherwise invisible to other people. I like to give what I have understood and also understand more. I also enjoy writing. It makes me know so much more about myself that I had never known had I not written things.

I also enjoy social gatherings especially festive occasions with jovial atmosphere, laughter all around. Watching movies is also one of my favourite pastimes. Highway, jab we met, Piku, etc are some of favourite all time watches.

Something I would like to explore more is cooking. My idea around food is it is one of the constitutive elements that changes one's mood. This mood change then motivates you to take up your task. I also love listening to music. Music similar to food also has the capability of always brightening up one's mood. There are different songs for the different ways you feel. Songs also tell a story about you.

I have immense interest in psychology and philosophy. I am very curious about the behaviour of others as well as myself. Why we do what we do and why we react to a particular situation in a specific manner, are the questions that come to my mind. Philosophy challenges me to think differently. Psychology on the other hand makes me introspect and reflect on my as well as others decisions.
